Poster Exhibition "f-cell vision":

Wanted: ideas for the future of the fuel cell

The second "f-cell vision" poster exhibition will take place in Stuttgart within the framework of the fuel cell expert forum "f-cell" on September 28 and 29, 2009. The exhibition aims to publicize new ideas for the enhancement or deployment of fuel cells. Those who are interested can apply to participate in the show by submitting an abstract of their idea by July 15, 2009.

Stuttgart (eos) – Wanted: "fuel cell visionaries" from research facilities and companies. The Fuel Cell Alliance of Baden-Württemberg (BzA-BW) and the Peter Sauber Agentur Messen und Kongresse GmbH are looking for new and outstanding ideas for enhancements to and the deployment of fuel cells to be shown at the "f-cell vision" poster exhibition. The show will take place within the framework of the fuel cell expert forum "f-cell" on September 28 and 29 in Stuttgart (www.f-cell.de).

Those who are interested are asked to apply for participation by summarizing the idea for their poster on an A4 page and sending this abstract to the Peter Sauber Agency (f-cell@messe-sauber.de) by July 15. Experts at the BzA BW will review all submissions and select 20 of the them, i.e. those that appear to best indicate the way forward. The expert visitors at the "f-cell" on September 28 and 29 will then be asked to award the "f-cell vision best poster" award to the best three posters.

"The aim of 'f-cell vision' is to define the path from theory to practice for new concepts, materials, manufacturing processes, and fields of application for fuel cells," explains agency CEO and "f-cell" event organizer Peter Sauber. "We want to get scientists and researchers talking to entrepreneurs and investors."
